

CRITICS' CHOICE

COMPETITIVE COOKING
Celebrity MasterChef, 9pm, BBC1

FINALS week has arrived, and the five remaining celebrities have to keep their cool as they face their last challenges – including, tomorrow, the daunting Chef's Table, hosted by Tom Kerridge. Tonight, though, they tackle a centuries-old culinary tradition: the not so humble pie. The winner will be crowned on Friday at 9pm.

MODERN HOME
Grand Designs, 9pm, Ch4

ARCHITECT Iain and his wife, Jenny (pictured), are building an enormous, minimalist, black rectangular house – so far, so Grand Designs. But they are building it among 19th-century Arts and Crafts homes in the Scottish countryside, and the neighbours are watching with interest...

COUNTRY LIFE
This Week On The Farm, 9pm, Ch5

IT'S back to Cannon Hall Farm in South Yorkshire, where presenters Helen Skelton and Jules Hudson are reunited with Rob and Dave Nicholson – and their livestock. In this first episode, there's a look at the evolution of the combine harvester as brothers Rob and Dave (pictured) prepare for the all-important autumn season.

POISONING PLOT
The Man Putin Couldn't Kill, 10pm, Ch4

ALEXEI NAVALNY is a thorn in the side of Russian President Vladimir Putin. A master of social media and vociferously anti-corruption, Navalny has whipped up criticism of Putin's rule. This film examines the 2020 poisoning of Navalny and a bungled plot that would be straight out of a Johnny English film, were it not so sinister.

FILM CHOICES

Wild Rose, 9pm, Film4

JESSIE BUCKLEY (pictured) does her own singing in this musical drama as an aspiring country singer – from Glasgow. Clawing her way back from ignominy after she serves a year in prison, single mum Rose-Lynn (Buckley) proves that she's got the voice and the heartache to take her all the way to Nashville.

The Beguiled, 11.15pm, BBC2

SOFIA COPPOLA'S version of a novel first filmed in 1971, set during the America Civil War. Nicole Kidman and Kirsten Dunst are among the women at a girls' school who become distracted by Colin Farrell's wounded soldier.
