

WHAT TO WATCH

Stacey Dooley meets the heroes of lockdown

STACEY DOOLEY: LOCKDOWN HEROES BBC Three

Like many of us, the normally intrepid documentary film-maker Stacey Dooley is stuck working from home. So instead of investigating sex crimes in South Korea or meeting lifers in a women's prison in Iowa, she's been digging through social media to find the unsung heroes of lockdown. Among them is Jonathan from Glasgow, who's organised a team of volunteers to provide food every night for the homeless, and Croydon junior doctor Zainab, whose job has proved to be more intense than she ever imagined.

VE DAY: COUNTDOWN TO PEACE Yesterday, 8.00pm

As we approach the 75th anniversary of VE Day on Friday, Yesterday brings us this evocative documentary featuring vivid archive footage. It revisits the events across Europe in the week leading up to the announcement, before plunging us into the celebrations in Paris, London and New York, as well as on rural farms and villages. CG

